Dear Client,

As you may or may not know, Asmodee Canada now has exclusive distribution rights to all CMON products in Canada, as announced at the GAMA Trade Show in mid-March.

The decision has been taken by CMON to not ship new products or restocks to their previous distributor, and we are now working with CMON to set up their products in our system to begin distribution as soon as possible.

“We confirm that the upcoming release dates for new CMON products will be rescheduled,” said Adam Lovell, CMON Vice President of Sales and Operations.

All new CMON releases have been postponed across North America, and will be rescheduled to coincide with Asmodee’s readiness to distribute these releases.

Asmodee Canada will work to obtain the list of pre-order quantities placed by all clients with the previous distributor, and once this is done, they will be filled as with any other new release. All backorder quantities will be deleted.

Please accept our apologies for any inconvenience this may cause, and please do not hesitate to contact your Sales Representative if you should have any questions concerning this.

Thank you,

The Asmodee Canada Sales Team
